

Soldiers for the Lord

by Kelli Bowden

The Lord is preparing his saints for flight -

Could be morning, noon or night.

The devil is on total alert -

To try to make the Saints desert.

Throwing stumbling blocks in the way,

The fight is on every day.

The Battle is won, but the war goes on.

The angels are on guard from night till dawn.

Dressed in the armor of God,

My feet are firmly shod.

Rejoicing always no matter what -

Comprehending what I've been taught.

People are coming in or getting out -

There is no place for sin and doubt.

Christians are praying like never before,

And the Spirit of God is knocking at each door.

Satan is defeated and he knows the end -

Drop him now, he's not your friend.

He knows time is short and eternity forever -

Hell would love to join you together.

Resist him now and he will flee -

Come join us with victory.

Jesus will be there just for you -

To cleanse your soul and make you new.

Another soldier for our Lord -

Great in Heaven will be your reward.

There are souls to win and demons to defeat,

Now isn't the time to retreat.

Our King is coming for everyone,

Who has fought the fight and overcome.
